The Steinkreis Times, Volume 14

STEINKREIS NEWS, VOLUME FOURTEEN HEADLINES- brought to you by your local News Gnome The Bloods & Ravens War Hostilities between the Blood Guard and Raven Guard are mounting over the rightful occupation to the Crater Lake Fort that watches over the Crater Lake near Hamley and the Raven's home Raven Watch. While the Blood Guard have been known to maintain posts on the roads to ensure safe passage for travellers throughout Thain, little is known about the Raven Guard other than they originate from the same town that harboured the Dawn of Shadows. While the authorities of nearby settlements are at a loss to whom should lay claim to it, no one seems keen to allow the Raven Guard have a secure base of operations from which they can pose a higher threat. The Blood guard secured the Fort without wide spread commotion and withdrew their forces from all other posts. Read next edition to find out why. Dragons! Here at the Steinkreis Times, we would like to offer another warning to adventurers in the Wastes of a Blue dragon that has taken to lairing in the sands and attacking with surprise. Hamley Festival Success The festival in Hamley aimed at raising donations for a Widow and Orphans fund of the Emyrean Aurora guard that fortify the village was met with great enthusiasm and support. After a good turnout from the crowd, the day was spent watching performances and plays with fresh cooked foods and ale. Rumours are that Raven Watch is to host it's own festival in time. EDITORIALS Circle Independants Rumours of the Circle leadership in turmoil and/or missing, after the golems turned on Hamley soldiers during the war and reported repeat fighting with Hamley and the Keepers recently cause us to strive to bring you, the citizens of Thain the scoop. Anyone who can provide information please contact our office in the city of Steinkreis. Goblins Massacre As a merchant travelling between town to village and back again, it is never easy work and is costly in hiring escorts, driving up prices. Now we find ourselves mobbed by savage goblins and I tells ya, me help does not like being killed or hurt. How can a man expect to do an honest days work with surprises like that, one minute there be guards and the next thing there be two dozen goblins needing a smack. We don't need this sort of thing, the merchants guild will hear about this if the Blood guard don't come back or someone fails to man those outposts. CLASSIFIEDS OFFERED: Lust Away! The latest in lust breaking devices to ensure your daughters and wife stay safe while you are hard at work or war.
